Gentlemen:

Some years ago, my sister, the late
Miss Sarah Cooper Hewitt, gave you a medal of her father by Roty. She requested me after her death to send you another one and I am writing to inquire whether the one you now have is of silver or bronze.

If you will let me know which kind you have, I will be glad to send you one of the others.

Hoping to hear from you at your convenience.

Very truly yours,

Erskine Hewitt

Dear Mr. Hewitt:

The bronze medal of your father received today for which many thanks. Mr. Noe evidently misunderstood what I said when he asked me which medal we had. The one we have is the bronze medal and it is the silver medal that we desire. If you care to send us the silver medal we will return the bronze one, as this we have in duplicate. Regretting that an error has been made, I remain

Gentlemen:

Mr. Erskine Hewitt has asked me to answer your favor of December 13th, and to say that he regrets, after receipt of letter from your Mr. Noe, that he gave the Silver Medal to the Smithsonian Institute in Washington.

As you already have a Bronze Medal, Mr. Hewitt would be much obliged if you would return the second one he sent you.

He regrets deeply that he has no other Silver Medal available which he could send you.

Very truly yours,
